

LUNKER HUNTER SPOONPLUGGERS MEETING JUNE 7, 2012

“ATTITUDE”

“YOUR’E NEVER A LOSER UNTIL YOU QUIT TRYING” –Mike Ditka

Charlie Myers talked about the “Mental Aspects of Fishing”. Our attitude is very important. Buck Perry lists one very important part as being a “willingness to put forth effort”. Most people are not prone to discipline themselves and put forth effort to find the what, where, when, why and how answers. He mentioned that with the passage of time, he no longer is able to put in the 12-14 hour days he did in the past, but I can assure you that Charlie is focused on finding answers whenever he is on the water. We are all good at making excuses, but mental attitude and belief in what you are doing can be the difference between success and failure. Belief in what you are doing is critical---if you think you can---or can’t, you are right! We as Spoonpluggers are fortunate that we have a proven successful system of fishing given to us by Buck Perry. All we need to do is believe in it and follow the guidelines. Persistence is important to help us gain knowledge and experience, and Charlie has plenty of both. He explained how he learned on many fall musky fishing trips that the musky would become active mostly around dusk. By adapting, he caught more fish and became more efficient with his time. Charlie advises us to get out of our comfort zone, don’t quit, and make a real effort to get answers and catch fish. Thanks for the program, Charlie. It was a good reminder of what is important!
